Country singer Troy Lee Gentry, half of the popular singing duo Montgomery Gentry, pleaded guilty Monday in U.S. District Court to a misdemeanor charge of falsely registering a trophy bear as wild when, in fact, it was a captive bear named Cubby, which he shot in 2004 on a game farm in northern Minnesota. As part of the agreement which avoided a trial, Gentry agreed to pay a $15,000 fine. He also agreed to forfeit the bear and the bow used to shoot the animal, and to give up hunting, fishing and trapping in Minnesota for five years. In the trial, the country star testified that he bought the tame bear from the game farm with the understanding that he would stage and videotape a hunt inside the bear's 3-acre enclosure. "...I made a deal about harvesting this bear," Gentry testified. Gentry issued a public apology and called the experience "humbling."

Chris Krok, Cox Radio Talk WSB-AM/Atlanta's night host, (and Conclave Executive Committee member!) has stirred things up again. The controversial night host got a listener tip that led to the arrest of six illegal workers working at Hartfield-Jackson International Airport. The bust, which shook down on Wednesday, was the direct result of a tip from a station caller. The caller informed Krok that there were workers unable to speak English hanging drywall at the airport, and the workers were, indeed, undocumented. The bust was the lead story on Atlanta TV news on Wednesday. The Atlanta office of the I.C.E. took credit for the investigation, although Krok claims it was his and newsman Pete Combs' actions and the caller's tip that led to the bust.

Something was mighty important to a gaggle of Minneapolis listeners last week...so important, that they were willing to turn over their babies to Dave Ryan's morning show producer, Steve Latart. What did they get in return? Raising money to fight AIDS or cancer? A pledge to help feed the homeless this Christmas? No, WAY BETTER! A Sony Playstation 3. Ryan, immensely popular morning man for KDWB, conducted what he's calling a "social experiment," by asking if people would give up their baby for 24 hours. "We got more calls than we could handle," Ryan told the paper. "They were lined up willing to turn their kids over to stranger for a freakin' Playstation!" Latart says, "There were a lot of phone calls that we didn't even get to, and I would say three-quarters of them were serious." One caller, named Katie, said she would give up her one-month old child for three days so that she could sell the video-game console on E-bay to make extra money for the holidays. When the morning show finally admitted that it was all a hoax, Katie even called back and asked, "Does that mean I don't get the Playstation?" Ryan responded, "Yeah, you're a dumb ass, and you don't get the Playstation." He continued, "In a way it's flattering that we've built up 13 years of trust, and that's great. Yet at the same time, hey, we thought we knew Kramer (Michael Richards) too. You just never know."

Cornbread, Bonneville Country WIL/St.Louis morning man, decided fresh turkey was in order for Thanksgiving, so an alert listener brought him a live one! The bird, adorably named Potato Head by a preschool class, spent his sad remaining days in a cage in the studio while his fate lay in the hands of the station's listeners. Alas, Cornbread announced that the majority of his listeners felt that Potato Head should get the axe. But take heart, fellow animal lovers! Potato Head has a guardian angel, none other than Cardinals coach Tony LaRussa! The head honcho called in and asked that the bird's life be spared. Cornbread said, "The skipper Tony LaRussa is the one guy who could get me to release Potato Head. You can't cross the Cards, that's bad karma!"

The FCC recently released a plan to conduct 10 economic studies as part of its media-ownership rules review. The studies are being written by both internal and outside sources and will be peer-reviewed. The reports are already getting a thumbs down from Commissioners Michael Copps and 2005 Conclave keynoter Jonathan Adelstein. Copps said the announcement of the reports “raises more questions in the public’s mind than it answers...” Echoing Copps concerns, Adelstein issued his own statement, charging that the ‘unilateral release of this Public Notice on the eve of the Thanksgiving holiday ultimately undermines the public’s confidence by raising more questions than it answers. The descriptions of the studies are scant, lacking any sense of the Commission’s expectations for scope, proposed methodology and data sources. In certain instances, the truncated period of time to complete the studies is an ingredient for a study that doesn’t engender public faith and confidence. The release of this deficient Public Notice is unfortunate given the importance of these studies in evaluating the impact of media ownership on the American public.”

We previously announced that a deal had been struck at Clear Channel, and it has officially been filed with the FCC. Seven Fargo market stations have been sold to Jim Ingstad’s Radio Fargo-Moorhead, Inc, revealing that Ingstad is paying $14 million for the cluster and that the buyer is spinning off Country KFAB/Kindred-Fargo, acquired in the transaction, to Northwestern College as a donation plus a $500,000 tower rent credit. Ingstad is buying Talk KFGO-AM, Sport KVOX-Am, Country KDAM, Soft AC KRVI, Classic Hits KKBX, and Top 40 WDAY-FM in the deal.

Ed Schultz, of Jones Radio Networks/P1 syndicated talker out of Fargo is moving his live airing from 3-6p ET to noon-3p ET starting Monday, December 11. This puts Schultz in the same time slot occupied in many markets by Air America’s Al Franken, and comes ahead of Friday’s hearing on AAR’s fate in New York Bankruptcy Court.

attended conferences – The Summer Learning Conference. Now, the Conclave needs someone to lead its sponsorship sales efforts. The position requires intense phone communication with companies providing a product or service to the industry. They’ll be responsible for negotiating sponsorship packages, and doing essential bookwork like invoicing and collecting. The person hired will have solid organizational skills and database skills and because the Conclave office is on the Mac platform, a knowledge of Macs would be helpful. Although radio sales experience and a history of attending Conclave conferences are not required, the ideal candidate will have some selling history, and have an understanding and passion for Conclave and its mission. This is a base plus commission position with first year earnings that could exceed $35K+. It goes without saying the successful candidate will have the opportunity to grow with a dynamic non-profit in a dynamic industry. Sound like you, or someone you know? Send resumes (but no phone calls, at present) to Executive Director Tom Kay, tomk@theconclave.com.

Changes. Jim Ingstad Broadcasting Top 40 WDAY/Fargo nighttimer Special Edd officially takes over as MD...Peter Brown, afternoon host for Entercom Sports WSSP-AM/Milwaukee, has taken his exit. His spot will be filled temporarily by his former Sporting News Radio co-worker Cliff Saunders... Ken Denton has been promoted to to Dir./Sales of Clear Channel’s Chicago cluster.

“Jane and Kidd’s Stuff the Bus” food drive kicked off its 13-hour run on Entercom AC WMYX/Milwaukee, and this time cracked the 1 million-pound mark to benefit the Second Harvest of Wisconsin. The event was hosted by WMYX’s Jane Matenaer, Kidd O’Shea, Sandy Maxx, and Van McNeil. Marketing Dir. Jim Morales said, ‘There were so many high points today, it’s impossible to know where to start. From 4-year-olds donating their pennies and nickels to Hills Brothers donating over 30,000 pounds of coffee, it’s been an absolute miracle.’ The TATTLER staff sends its congrats on a great community service!

Already sick of partying with Paris(ite) Hilton, Britney Spears's "Foxy Beaver" has made an appearance on the KFAT Morning Chaos with Brad and Kim! And of COURSE we mean a fur coat! Morning wise apple Brian Erickson checked in with us and shared that the coat was given away last Friday. Says Erickson, "We launched the promotion the day after Britney announced that she was divorcing Trailer Park Boy. "Britney's Foxy Beaver" was a brand new $3,000 fur coat. You could register to win by winning anything on the morning show or donating a coat to the Coats for Kids Charity. We gave it away at the first annual KFAT Butter Ball at Club O. All the coats went to needy kids in the Anchorage school district." When Brad isn't busy offending the Fed-Ex's Alaskan relatives, he serves as a member of the Conclave's Board of Directors.
