Air America is no longer. All programming ended last night (Jan. 21) at 6pm, and Air America won't feed any more taped shows to affiliates after 9p Monday, Jan. 25th. Chairman Charlie Kireker says they "will fire soon under Chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code to carry out an orderly winding-down of the business." Kireker blames the economy, failing ad revenues, slow-growing new media revenues and a failure to attract new investors. Air America debuted in late March 2004 with personalities Al Franken and Randi Rhodes. Kireker gives Air America credit for helping change the political climate and for reaching as many as 100 radio affiliates during its time on the air. It is unsure what direction stations using Air America programming will take on Monday in markets like Madison and Minneapolis., but as of press time, stations were scrambling to fill the syndication void that Air America will create next week.

Stating it found no justification in the large fine a Minnesota woman received last year, a U.S. district court has lowered the imposed damages for Jammie Thomas-Rasset, who a jury last year found liable for copyright violations. "The need for deterrence cannot justify a $2 million verdict for stealing and illegally distributing 24 songs for the sole purpose of obtaining free music," wrote Chief Judge for the U.S. District Court for the District of Minnesota Michael Davis. Last summer, a federal jury in Minnesota found Thomas-Rasset liable for copyright infringement, ordering her to pay $1.9 million. DAVIS has changed that — and ordered Thomas-Rasset to pay $54,000 or $2,250 per song...a basic reduction in penalty of approximately $1.95 million! The RIAA was not immediately available for comment

Oh, Jeez...Coco in Fargo?? Fans of Conan O'Brien, exiting NBC's "Tonight Show" tonight under less than happy circumstances, are voting on what job offer he should take. One of the leaders: a gig at Y94/Fargo, ND! As of yesterday morning, the offer from WDAY-FM (Y94) of an on-air job as morning show sidekick was leading with 42%. Second was an offer from a porno film-maker, clocking in closely at 36%. (O'Brien had already gotten mileage out of the porn offer, suggesting on the Tonight Show "that the fine print called for Jay Leno to step in right before the climax.") The money? Y-94 is offering O'Brien minimum wage (this is RADIO, after all...). But perhaps his potential pay won't be a deal-breaker; Conan has a $33 million severance deal from NBC. Stay tuned.

On Wednesday, January 27th at 3P EST/2P CST, one of the most poignant webinars in the Conclave's webinar series will be presented: WOMEN UNDER GLASS - SMASHING THE CEILING with Dr. Eric Shoars, author and 25-year radio veteran. Shoars conducted groundbreaking research on women and executive positions uncovered the actual causes that keep women out of corner offices. Attendance at this special webinar is free, but you must pre-register by clicking on <https://www1.gotomeeting.com/register/425940392>. Dr. Shoars' book, Women Under Glass, used Mentoring and Inspiring Women – a female-centered mentoring program – as a case study for the book's research. Find out what was learned from women in radio and how that knowledge can assist women in all professional walks of life to break through glass ceilings. Says NextGen Marketing's Joan Gerberding - "In Women Under Glass Eric Shoars clearly defines what keeps business women from the upper clout positions in most companies and the ramifications of doing so. Until leadership skills, expertise, and talent are evaluated without gender bias, businesses will neither truly reflect the culture of the consumer or the community, nor will they reap the benefits of seeing the world through balanced eyes." The book - Women Under Glass - is now available via www.amazon.com. Important note: For each book sold, $1 will go to support Mentoring and Inspiring Women initiatives. And as an added bonus, email your Amazon.com receipt to Dr. Shoars at <mailto:eshoars@mindspring.com> and each purchaser will get a link to $500 worth of downloadable gifts! Comment: The Conclave has long ago recognized – and challenged – the industry's 'boys club' mentality. This webinar is one additional step the Conclave is taking to help move radio forward. Please join us next Wednesday for a 'smashing' webinar! - TK

CBS/Detroit has launched a new HD Radio Station and website, MichiganSaver Radio and <http://www.MichiganSaver.com>. Both the station (which is WYCD-FM 99.5-HD3) and website are designed , according to CBS, "with the cost-conscious consumer in mind." The MichiganSaver brand is being touted as 100% devoted to Michigan consumers, connecting them "to the best deals and cost savings available." The former 99.5 HD-3 "The Psychic Studio" has moved to sister station WOMC HD-3.

Saint Louis University men's basketball coach Rick Majerus has told Bonneville Sports WXOS (101 ESPN)/St. Louis that wants his name off his weekly Billikens' coaches show. Majerus did not appear on his season debut, saying that he had a scheduling conflict. Bonneville however said he was contractually obligated to appear. This week, the coach did appear but said that he could not guarantee attendance and suggested that the show be changed from "The Rick Majerus Show" to "The Billikens Show."

According to a new survey conducted by Digital Media Army, Radio still has massive, untapped potential for online ad revenue. Digital Media Army President Lukas Snelling says, "The data is pretty clear, AE's desire more education and support when it comes to selling online." The survey also evaluated current acceptance of integrated selling and the present marketplace demand for online media, suggesting that bundling online media with traditional media is not yet a universal sales method. In fact, only 10% of AE's said they bundle online media into every deal. Snelling adds, "The Radio Industry has clearly made strides in selling online media, but the survey demonstrates the need for additional investment in educating our sellers and building online advertising assets that work."

Rumors are flying about the new "tablet device" Apple is likely to debut next week. According to the Wall Street Journal, Apple CEO Steve Jobs "is betting he can reshape businesses like textbooks, newspapers and TV much the way his iPod revamped the music industry – and expand Apple's influence and revenue as a content middleman." This should concern Radio because there's no mention of it in discussions about the new device. "The company envisions that the tablet can be shared by multiple family members to read news and check email in homes. Apple has recently been in discussions with book, magazine and newspaper publishers about how they can work together." Reports also have Apple negotiating with CBS Corp. and Walt Disney Co. about a monthly TV subscription service. Apple execs have also spoken to the top four recording companies about plans to offer a streaming music service free of charge to consumers.

A Supreme Court's ruling yesterday will have severe, but likely positive, implications for political advertising spending. The Court ruled that federal campaign laws cannot constitutionally restrict corporations' or unions' ability to spend money on political campaigns. The case also changes the laws restricting what can be in a campaign ad paid for by corporations on behalf of a candidate, and when they can run; the laws had denied corporate-financed ads the ability to explicitly endorse one candidate over another or directly denigrate a candidate, and had barred union- and corporate-financed issue ads in the final stages of a campaign. The 5-4 decision overturns limits on corporate campaign spending with Justice Anthony Kennedy writing the majority opinion, "The appearance of influence or access will not cause the electorate to lose faith in our democracy... Our nation's speech dynamic is changing, and informative voices should not have to circumvent onerous restrictions to exercise their First Amendment rights. The censorship we now confront is vast in its reach." Justices Alito, Roberts, Scalia and Thomas joined Kennedy in the majority, with Stevens, who wrote a dissent criticizing the majority for its "rejection of the common sense of the American people," joined by Justices Sotomayor, Ginsburg and Breyer. The case was brought by Citizens United, a group which attempted to air ads to promote the showing on cable video on demand of a documentary critical of Hillary Clinton but were thwarted by the Federal Election Commission, which claimed that the group could only use money from limited amounts of contributions from disclosed individuals for the ads and the broadcast.

Longtime Conclave supporter and TalenTrak faculty member Bob Cohen announces the launch of Bob Cohen Strategies, LLC. The new company builds on Cohen's 30 years of experience in media, sports and entertainment industries, both domestic and international, including Cohen's 23 years in management with Clear Channel. In addition to providing strategic consultation for media, sports and entertainment businesses, the new venture will develop investment opportunities in those same areas.

Carter Broadcast Group Urban KPRS and sister Black Gospel KPRT-AM/Kansas City just completed a 12-hour radiothon called "Heart for Haiti," raising over $10k. All proceeds will go to assist in providing aid to Haiti in the aftermath of the earthquakes and aftershocks that struck the island.

The "Scrubs in the Morning" show, which is simulcast on Citadel Country WTNR/Grand Rapids, MI and Citadel Country WFBE/Flint, MI has received countless calls, e-mails and Facebook messages from fans to help collect teddy bears in support of Blare's Bears 4 Haiti. Blare is a 12-year-old WTNR listener who came up with the idea to send new and gently used teddy bears to the children of Haiti to help give some comfort during this time of need. The "Scrubs In The Morning Show" took the idea statewide, attempting to collect at least 20,000 bears to help Blare send to the children.

NRG Sports KOZN-AM/Omaha afternoon host Kevin Kugler has been named Nebraska Sportscaster of the Year for 2009 by the National Sportscasters and Sportswriters Association. This is the 6th time Kugler has won this award.

Two Emmis/St. Louis announcers have been elected to the St. Louis Radio Hall of Fame. Congrats to "Radio Rich" Dalton and John Ulett! Dalton is known for his encyclopedic knowledge of rock music and musicians. Ulett has worked in St. Louis as a morning personality for over 25 years.

Simmons Media closed on the sale of Talk-Classic Country WQQX-AM (formerly Sports WFFX-AM)/St. Louis to Entertainment Media Trust for $450k.

Elyria-Lorain Broadcasting AAA WNWV/Cleveland launching as "107.3 Boom" a couple weeks ago, has already changed to "107.3 Cleveland!" Turns out CBS had registered a service mark for "Boom FM" on December 29th.
