Ready for NIGHT SCHOOL? If you attend the 35th Learning Conference, you will be! For the first time ever in the industry, The Conclave has added an entire NIGHT SCHOOL to its curriculum at the 35th Learning Conference in Minneapolis, July 15-17. NIGHT SCHOOL will be conducted by veteran programmer and consultant, Jerry Clifton of New World Media and it will take place Saturday afternoon, July 17th beginning at 1PM CDT at the Doubletree Park Place/Minneapolis. All current and aspiring night jocks – or talent in ANY daypart - are urged to attend this once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to drive their audience numbers up as the sun goes down. Daily tuition for all Saturday sessions and events, including NIGHT SCHOOL, is $179. Of course, NIGHT SCHOOL is included with regular tuition for the 35th Learning Conference – FREEWAY TO YOUR FUTURE (Full professional $349, Student/Free Agent $159). Industry legend Jerry Clifton will share the secrets of becoming and staying a great talent. Clifton said "It's time for the leaders of our industry to give back. Our program at this year's Conclave will be a part of my contribution. It will be unlike any other event ever presented at an industry conference." Comment: If you're a talent wanting to learn how to unlock your creative potential, if you want to understand how to achieve greatness and success in your career, NIGHT SCHOOL will be one of the best investments you'll ever make in your career. If you're a PD wanting to get the real inside on how to bring out the best in your talent, you will not want to miss this epic opportunity to learn from Jerry Clifton, one of radio's best, brightest, and most successful coaches. Whether you plan to attend for just that day (Sat 7/17) or the whole weekend, the time to register is now. - TK

Democrats on Capitol Hill are planning a bipartisan meeting in June to discuss reviewing and updating the Communications Act. Senate Commerce Committee Chair John D. Rockefeller (D-WV) and House Commerce Committee Chair Henry Waxman (D-CA) plan to "start a process to develop proposals" for the revision. This move comes after 74 Democratic lawmakers sent a letter to FCC Chair Julius Genachowski objecting to the reclassification of broadband to allow for increased FCC regulation. "The expanded FCC jurisdiction over broadband that has been proposed and the manner in which it would be implemented are unprecedented and create regulatory uncertainty," wrote the lawmakers. "The controversy surrounding that approach will likely serve as a distraction from what should be our Nation's foremost communications priority: bringing broadband to every corner of AMERICA, getting every American online, and providing the high speed connections needed to realize the promises of telemedicine, distance learning, and other forms of consumer empowerment." Comment: Expect the broadband issue behind the Communications Act chatter – which is essentially a Congressional reaction to the FCC exploration into the removal of bandwidth from television to allow the forementioned broadband/high speed connections – to become a significant battleground in the coming months. For radio, it could mean conversations about the PRA (performance royalties) would take a back seat to this higher profile debate in the halls of Congress. And that may not necessarily be a bad thing. - TK

Clear Channel/Minneapolis will soon announce its plans for a recently "acquired" FM translator, and no one believes they'll simply use a brand-spanking-new signal from the downtown IDS Center to fill in the signal of talker KTLK-FM. The FCC just recently ok'd the move of K279AZ/Cottage Grove at 103.7 to downtown Minneapolis' tallest building. Clear Channel (the largest commercial broadcaster) and K-LOVE backer Educational Media Foundation (the largest non-commercial broadcaster) have a deal in place to allow EMF the right to program the HD-2 channel of CC's WMXD/Detroit while CC/Minneapolis basically gains a sixth presence on the FM dial in the market.

The possible return of the "Fairness Doctrine" incited an individual's anger enough to make death threats against Congress. The Feb. 2009 case involved a man who left voicemail messages for Sen. Debbie Stabenow (D-MI), saying, "We're gonna (expletive) get you...we're gonna get you with a lot of (expletive) bolt action. Like we did RFK, like we did MLK. We know who you are. We'll get you." The caller turned out to be a Texas man who lives alone and had at one time owned a 20-gun arsenal; the man told the FBI that he was "really, really drunk" and was "venting" after hearing a discussion of the "Fairness Doctrine." The website, Politico analyzed FBI cases involving death threats and... Surprise, surprise! Most involve male gun owners, many of whom have been treated for mental illness and most of whom had gone through a recent major life stress such as job loss or illness. Comment: So, the death threats are only coming from mentally challenged, stressed-out gun owners. Whew! For a moment there, you had us worried. - TK

SoundExchange has over $200 million in unpaid royalties according to Digital Music News, claiming "the amount may be quite a lot more." "According to IRS returns (filed under federal non-profit Form 990)," writes DMN, "SoundExchange was holding a bag on a 'fund balance' of nearly $260 million by the tail end of 2008. SoundExchange exec Laura Williams says the figure is much closer to $200 million at the beginning of 2009 because of ongoing payouts. SoundExchange is not able or could not offer more up-to-date figures because of the "auditing phase' confidentiality." SoundExchange claims the problem "is in part caused by the booming popularity of online radio." Pandora founder Tim Westergren sides with SoundExchange, saying "I think, and I say this as a musician myself, that musicians need to step up here. I don't think SoundExchange is trying to hold on to money. It's just remarkably hard to get musicians to take the initiative." Comment: Oh great...just what radio wants to hear - the possibility that royalties proposed to be collected from radio inside the PRA will sit in escrow until the artists who earned them can be found. - TK

Simon had a severely weak heart and wasn't expected to live past her 27th birthday in 2007 when she received the transplant from Chloe's donated organs, allowing her to have a full life. After she posted a video online thanking Chloe, Coleman and his wife, Linda, the Coleman's met Simon and invited her to North Carolina to help spread the word about becoming an organ donor. Along with multiple interviews on Capitol Broadcasting's WRAL-TV and AC WRAL-FM/Raleigh, Simon and the Coleman's attended a local church service where the choir sang "The Heart Within," based on a poem Chloe had written as a sixth-grader. On Sunday, Simon threw out the first pitch at a Durham Bulls baseball game. The stadium played messages promoting organ donation throughout the game.
