CH Holdings Talk KTRS-AM/St. Louis morning man J.C. Corcoran has been in an argument with a listener over email and according to St Louis Today .com, the emails from Corcoran have been vulgar and profane. Although management disapproves, no disciplinary action is planned. Corcoran, a longtime fixture in St. Louis radio, had recently replaced Chas Jaco in mornings when a listener, former Jefferson Co. Chamber of Commerce Exec. Dir. Floyd Brookman sent emails to Corcoran, writing things like, "We traded Chas Jaco for this? Really?" and "I'm intelligent enough to recognize a desperate, washed up hard rock DJ when I hear one and THAT sounds like someone I know." Corcoran responded with vengeance. "Then why do I make so much more money than you? And why is my wife hotter than the beast you have to crawl in on top of every night? And why am I a celebrity in this town and you're some dope named...Floyd? You see, dip*...unlike you, I have a life to get back to. So, bye-bye, sucker. You're blocked from this point forward. I'll never see another one of your dumb messages. FLOYD!!! Ha ha hah ha..." Little did Corcoran know that Brookman lost his wife to a heart attack five months ago. Brookman complained to GM Tim Dorsey and was advised to "let this go." "If J.C. wants to call him to apologize he'll call him to apologize," Dorsey told St. Louis Today .com. "No one knew that the man's wife was deceased. I would never have sent a note like that to anyone in a billion years, but, different strokes for different folks."

THE NEXT CONCLAVE WEBINAR - Want a Christmas gift that keeps on giving? Join McVay Media's Mike McVay for CHRISTMAS TIPS FOR SANTAS & SCROOGES - a unique webinar revealing the strengths and weaknesses of 'going all

Christmas' - Thursday, December 2 at 2P CST. The Christmas Format. What works, what doesn't work, and why All Christmas isn't right for everyone. Say Mike, "Yule want to join us for an interesting discussion on the power of this seasonal programming staple at many radio stations, and how you can maximize your foray into holiday music, or how you might blunt the effect of your competitor's efforts." This webinar is free, but preregistration is necessary by clicking on <https://www1.gotomeeting.com/register/516186104>. This webinar is hosted/moderated by Jay Philpott, Conclave Board member and 106-5 The Arch/St. Louis personality.

Sam Zell announced Monday that he will leave the Chairman post at Tribune Co. once the company's reorganization is complete. "I think when we're done with the bankruptcy process, I will turn it over to whoever the creditors decide they want to run it, and wish them a lot of good luck," said Zell on CNBC. Zell led the ill-fated buyout of Tribune Co. in 2007, only to enter Chapter 11 bankruptcy the following year. Zell and five top Tribune execs have been targeted by unsecured creditors with threatened lawsuits over their role in the buyout and alleged fraud in that transaction.

Jacobs Media will conduct an industry-wide survey of men – their spending habits, decision-making power, and their value to advertisers. Jacobs Media is inviting all male-targeted radio stations from Rock to Sports to participate in the first-ever research study designed to focus on the value of males to advertisers. "Marketing to Men" was born out of the realization that more media buys than ever are targeting women because of the perception that males are no longer the key decision-maker or controller of the household's purse strings. "I have spent the past two decades speaking to advertisers on behalf of our radio clients and have heard every false stereotype about men," said Jacobs Media VP/GM Paul Jacobs. "Archie Bunker and Homer Simpson aren't the typical guy, so it's time to research males and determine what the facts are." All radio stations...NOT just Jacobs Media clients...are invited to participate in this web survey in early January.

Clear Channel has changed the call letters of its Grand Rapids, Michigan Hot AC to WSRW-FM – known as "Star FM" to listeners – and Michiguide is speculating that the company may be paving the way for an FM simulcast for its news/talk sister WOOD. The company has seven other FMs in the Grand Rapids and Muskegon markets.

Almost three years ago, Northwestern Media Contemporary Christian KNWC/Sioux Falls, SD began monthly "Life 96.5 Hands and Feet" opportunities in an effort to engage listeners in long-term transformational community work. "We decided that we had to get out of our stuffy studios and stop barking orders at our listeners about doing good things for others." Said APD Suzanne Lynn. "We had to create these opportunities and then get right out there beside them as an example, serving with them. I believe we have the responsibility to create opportunities to serve right beside our listeners." In August 2009 and 2010, KNWC teamed up with local for-profit business Tires Tires Tires and non-profit Sioux Empire Wheels to Work for the Life 96.5 Angel Cars. The station promoted the opportunity for listeners to donate cars or to apply to receive a car, Wheels to Work handled the applications and paperwork, and Tires Tires Tires donated more than $60k in parts and labor to make the donated cars safe for families. The results were overwhelming. Wheels to Work typically receives 12-15 donated vehicles a year. After just the two Hands and Feet opportunities, the non-profit has received close to 120 cars. Tires Tires Tires has also seen an increase in business, received a local volunteer award and was named the #1 tire dealer in North America by Tire Review Magazine. "The new buzz word in radio promotions is 'engagement,'" said Lynn, "but I believe engaging your audience is only the beginning of what it takes to penetrate your community. The old transactional promotions tactics builds temporary listenership but when you do transforming opportunities, you build long-term loyalty. Transactional promotions that are station-focused are dying to the community penetration that's listener focused for all radio formats, not just Christian ones." To help radio stations make the change from transactional promotions to transformational community penetration, Lynn has developed a half-day workshop. The workshop assesses specific needs and available services in the market and develops a strategy to bring a community non-profit organization and for-profit business together in partnerships with the station to meet the community need. The workshop will also help define roles and responsibilities for those involved to execute the opportunity and covers the importance of post-imaging to share the results and outcomes. Lynn is available to work with stations across the country. She can be reached by e-mail at <mailto:suzlynn@iw.net> or by phone at (605) 941-4719.
